There are many details to be considered with a charitable planned gift, so please consult your own attorney and tax advisor before you decide if any method of giving is right for your situation.*

Life Estate Agreement

A personal residence or farm may be given as a charitable gift. You retain the right to use the property for life and know you are leaving a life-changing gift to the children.

Charitable Remainder Trusts

The use of a charitable remainder trust (CRT) has become an increasingly popular way to make a generous charitable contribution, receive tax savings, and generate income for you and your family.

Gifts of Appreciated Assets

A contribution of long-term appreciated assets—e.g., stocks, bonds, and/or mutual funds that have realized significant appreciation over time—is a very tax efficient way to give. There are no capital gains to be paid and you can claim the full appreciated amount as a *charitable deduction up to 30% of your adjusted gross income.

Ways to Make a Difference

When you begin planning for your philanthropic legacy, you must search for a cause that is dear to your heart, where you know you can truly make a difference and your “ultimate gift” will be maintained and multiplied through sound management practices. The Daughters of the Nile Foundation offers an opportunity to give new health and new hope to children now and in the future.
